Notes:

John Denton was born 17 June 1759 in Dunsmore County, Virginia. He was a son of Abraham and Mourning (Hogg) Denton. About 1775 John Denton moved with his family to the Watauga settlements, where he resided during the period of the Revolution. He moved a short distance south to the Nolichucky settlements about 1780, and then into what is now Cocke County, Tennessee about 1791.

During the earlier part of the Revolution, the inhabitants of the Watauga and Nolichucky settlements were driven back to the older and safer settlements in Virginia by the Cherokee Indians at the urging of British agents among the Indians.

The settlers of the Watauga and Nolichucky settlements were warned of the impending onslaught of the Cherokees by four traders from the Cherokee Nation. It appears that the traders who carried the warning were Isaac Thomas, William Faling, Jarret Williams and probably John Bryan(t). The warning was given to these traders by Nancy Ward, who helped them to escape from the Indian towns on the Little Tennessee and Tellico Rivers in present Monroe County, Tennessee. This was a three-pronged invasion by the Indians with the main force led by the implacable foe of the settlers, the war chief of the Cherokees, Dragging Canoe. It was his intention to fall upon the settlers near the Long Island of Holston in what is now Sullivan County, and then carry the battle to the lower Virginia settlements. Thanks to the warning, conveyed to them by the traders and Nancy Ward, militia of the region had gathered. On 20 July 1776 at Island Flats near Long Island of Holston, the frontier militia under command of Captain James Thompson, who lived on the island, met and defeated the Indians. The militia was apparently composed of five companies commanded by Captains John Campbell, James Shelby, William Buchanan, William Cocke, and Thomas Madison in addition to that of James Thompson who was in overall command. Dragging Canoe's party was composed of about 170-200 warriors.

A second force of Indians, under command of The Raven, raided the settlements in Carter Valley in present day Hawkins County. Settlers there had been warned of the holocaust and had fled their homes, with the men going to the nearest fort, and the women and children back to what is now Wythe County, Virginia. Finding little to deter them, the Indians made inroads into the settlements on the Clinch River, and in the neighborhood of The Wolf Hills (present day Abingdon), Virginia. The tide of Indian invasion rolled up to the Seven Mile Ford of the Holston. This took place in the late summer and early fall of 1776. And in early 1777 the Indians returned and raided Poor Valley.

A third party of Indians, under command of Old Abram of Chilhowee, raided Fort Caswell on the Watauga 21 July 1776, but was beaten back. Although unable to accomplish any objectives of their invasion, the Indians remained for some time around the Nolichucky settlements.

It appears that John Denton was not involved in any of the battles of July 1776 against the Indians. Probably he had accompanied the women and children back to the Virginia settlements. John Denton volunteered in a company of infantry commanded by Captain James Young at Riddles Fort of Holston River in Virginia. While on the march to join the army being assembled to march against the Cherokees on Little Tennessee River, Captain Young was killed, about 20 miles below Riddles Fort. Lieutenant William Young commanded until they reached Long Island of the Holston where the company was placed under command of Captain James Shelby and Major Evan Shelby, in the army being assembled under command of Colonel William Christian. This army left the Long Island about 1 Oct 1776, and the first day marched six miles up Horse Creek, past the divide with Lick Creek, and camped at Double Springs. Here they were joined by Watauga and Nolichucky troops under Captains James Robertson and John Sevier. The companies of James Robertson, John Sevier, James Thompson, Daniel Smith, and Gilbert Christian were formed into a battalion under Major Evan Shelby. The army of Colonel William Christian was made up of about 1800 men and marched 6 Oct 1776 from the Double Spring camp toward the Indian towns. They went down Lick Creek, in present Greene County, to its junction with Nolichucky River. During the night while the army was camped here Ellis Hardin, a trader at the Cherokee towns, came into camp with information that the Indians were waiting on the south side of the French Broad to contest the crossing of the river. From the camp at the mouth of Lick Creek the army marched across the Nolichucky and up Long Creek to its head, then down Dumplin Creek to the French Broad River. The army's march was evidently along the Great War Path of the Indians, and the ford across the French Broad was near Buckingham Island.

Before the army reached the ford they were met by Fallin, a trader who had a white flag, but this was disregarded by Colonel Christian. The Cherokee Nation was divided. One faction, led by Chief Dragging Canoe who had been wounded at the Battle of Island Flats 20 July 1776, wanted to abandon the towns along the Little Tennessee and withdraw further down the Holston (now Tennessee). The elders and other of the tribe wanted to remain in the beloved towns along the Little Tennessee. This faction prevailed, and the Cherokees sent Nathaniel Gist to seek peace from Colonel Christian. Later, Dragging Canoe, with many young Cherokees and some Creeks, would prevail and make many vicious raids against the settlers from the Chicamauga towns in the vicinity of the present day Chattanooga, Tennessee.

Colonel Christian, having been told the Indians were prepared to contest the fording of French Broad at Buckingham Island, attempted a ruse. He had his men light a fire and pitch tents for each mess, as if the army meant to remain in camp on the north side of the French Broad River for several days. At 8:00 P.M. he took 1100 men, marched about four miles below Buckingham Island and crossed the river at the ford discovered there by some scouts from John Sevier's company. It was the intention of Colonel Christian to attack the Indians drawn up to oppose the crossing of the river from behind before sunrise. To Christian's surprise there was no Indian force there. It is possible the crossing of the French Broad was made the night of 15 Oct 1776, Colonel Christian had stated in a report from the Bouble Spring camp 6 Oct 1776 that it was his intention to cross French Broad October 15. Christian allowed the men to remain in camp that day to dry their equipment and clothes which had gotten wet at the crossing made at the lower ford. While in camp on the south bank of French Broad, in what is now Sevier County, the scouts and traders from the Cherokee towns came in and reported that many of the Indian warriors had taken their families and fled south to the Hiwassee River, in present day McMinn, Meigs, and Bradley Counties.

After spending the day following the crossing of French Broad in camp, the army resumed the march to the towns of the Overhill Cherokees along the Little Tennessee River, probably on 16 or 17 Oct 1776. From the fording of the French Broad to Toqua Ford on Little Tennessee the march led the army up the valley of Boyds Creek, in present day Sevier County, and down Ellejoy Creek from its source in Sevier County to where it runs into Little River in present day Blount County. The army passed the present site of Maryville, Tennessee, and on Friday, 18 Oct 1776, crossed the Little Tennessee River near Toqua, probably at Tomotley Ford. The night of 18 Oct 1776 was spent at Tomotley a site of a Cherokee village downriver from Toqua. No opposition was found and next day the forces of Colonel Christian marched downriver, on the south side of Little Tennessee passing through Tuskegee, then past the site of old Fort Loudon which was destroyed by the Cherokees in 1760, to the Great Island Town (Mialaquo). Colonel Christian made his headquarters at Great Island Town near the present Vonore, Monroe County, Tennessee. The army camped near the Indian towns about six weeks and probably returned to their homes about 1 December 1776.

The Nolichucky and Watauga settlements were the scene of more turmoil in 1777. May 7, 1777 the General Assembly of North Carolina provided that four companies of rangers or scouts, composed of 20 men each, should be raised among the people settled west of the mountains. One of these companies was commanded by James Stuart, and apparently was based, or was responsible for the present area of Unicoi County. John Denton was a member of a company of 40 rangers commanded by Captain Thomas Price and Lieutenant Jarrett Williams. It appears that Captain Price's company ranged through Greene and Hawkins Counties, and was on duty six months, probably being released in late 1777. It was the duty of these companies to keep the Indians in check.

John Denton took part in another campaign which appears to be that of the winter of 1780. Monday, 25 Sep 1780 the riflemen of the Watauga and Nolichucky settlements gathered at Sycamore Shoals at the foot of Yellow Mountain near Elizabethtown in present Carter County. Their purpose was to meet and defeat the British under Colonel Patrick Ferguson. On Saturday, 7 Oct 1780, the riflemen of Watauga, Nolichucky, Southwest

Virginia, and western North Carolina along with some South Carolina and Georgia patriots met the British of Ferguson and defeated them at Kings Mountain in South Carolina. The men of Watauga and Nolichucky were commanded by John Sevier. There is no indication that John Denton was among the riflemen at Kings Mountain, but he was among those who were called to meet the threat of the Cherokee almost as soon as the victors of Kings Mountain returned to their homes "west of the blue hills."

As soon as he could do so after the victory at Kings Mountain, Colonel John Sevier detached the company of Captain George Russell make a forced march to their homes. Nancy Ward had sent the traders from the Cherokee towns to warn the settlers that a large force of Indians had been instigated by the British to march against the settlements on Watauga and Nolichucky. Almost as soon as Sevier returned home he called for a force to meet the impending invasion.

Among those called or volunteered was John Denton. He volunteered in a company which elected Joseph Bullen Captain and himself as First Lieutenant. The army rendezvoused at Swan Pond on Lick Creek, marched down Long Creek in present day Jefferson County, to the ford of the French Broad near Buckingham Island where they crossed the river and marched on to meet the Indians. In his application for a pension John Denton states that the battle was fought at Cedar Springs in Blount County. John Denton states that he pursued and killed an Indian, taking a gun with "Georgis Rex" inscribed on the barrel and a new British tomahawk from the man. This was the engagement which has come down to us as the Battle of Boyds Creek and it was fought Saturday 16 Dec 1780. According to John Denton the contingent commanded by Colonel Sevier was composed of 270 men. Very soon after the battle Colonel Sevier received a message from Colonel Arthur Campbell of Southwest Virginia stating that he would arrive within a week, and asking Sevier to wait for his arrival before marching on to the towns of the Indians. Sevier fell back to the ford of the French Broad near Buckingham Island, but Colonel Campbell did not arrive until Friday 22 Dec 1780, and provisions were running short. Colonel Campbell and Major Martin from Sullivan County arrived with 300-400 additional men, and the march was resumed to the Little Tennessee River where a crossing was made at Tomotley Ford Sunday 24 Dec 1780. Chota was reached on Monday 25 Dec 1780 and a large store of supplies was found. Resistance was slight and Thursday 28 December the villages of Chota, Tellico and Tuskegee were burned and the army moved to Kaitee on Tellico River. Hiwassee was also found to be abandoned and Monday 1 Jan 1780 the army turned homeward.

In 1782 John Denton married Mary Moore, a daughter of James Moore and Martha Denton Moore, who was the second wife of Colonel John Tipton. John Denton appears to have remained in the Nolichucky settlements until about 1790 when he moved to what later became Cocke County. He obtained two grants from the state of Tennessee for land on Cosby Creek. About 1812-15 he moved to Overton County, Tennessee where he lived until about 1820-25 when he moved to Monroe County, Tennessee, perhaps to land which he had first seen while on the Indian campaigns in 1776 and 1780. Little is known of the later life of John Denton. He died 5 July 1842, in Monroe County, and may be buried in Hopewell Cemetery. He was granted a pension for his service during the Revolution as was his widow Mary in 1849.

Comments (Abraham Denton, III b. 0 ____ 1726 Orange Co., NY d. 0 ____ 1828 Obion Co., TN, intestate): In my research, I have found that the person(S) who perpetrated the mistake that Abraham Denton 111 died in Obion county were indeed mistaken. He was very elderly when he appears in 1820 census of Perry county and on the petition to form Perry county. He moved there after selling his farm in white County in 1817. I have read the records that Edith Whitley used and they omit Perry County and make the claim of Obion. This needs to be changed . Researchers have scoured Obion for some trace to no avail. It was formed later than Perry, as well.

SOURCE NOTES:

He appears to have remained in Shenandoah County, Virginia until the death of his father.

It is the opinion of David S. Templin (author/source of this information) that this Abraham married Mourning Hogg in Shenandoah (then Dunsmore Co) County, Virginia, possibly about 1757.

Abraham Denton had moved to Wataga settlement by 1775, and the family was forced back into Virginia by the Cherokee invasion during the summer of 1776.

Abraham Denton was active in the affairs of Washington and Greene Counties.

This Abraham seems to have disappeared from East Tennessee by the time Tennessee became a state. It is said that he appears in White County, Tennessee about 1809 and in Perry County in 1821. He is said to have died in Obion County, Tennessee.

1738-1828

Abraham DENTON III was born in 1738 in Orange CO, NY. Died in 1828 in Obion CO, TN. From "The Denton Family" by David H. Templin, printed in the Smokey Mountain Historical Newsletter, Spring 1983: "Abraham Denton moved to the Watauga settlements by 1775, and the family was forced back into Virginia by the Cherokee invasion during the summer of 1776. Abraham was active in the affairs of Washington and Greene Counties. Abraham apparently was living in the section of Washington County which was formed into Greene County. August 23, 1784, Abraham was a delegate from Greene County to the convention held in Jonesboro and which led to the formation of the State of Franklin. Abraham was one of five grantees to 150 acres lying in the Fork of Big Pigeon and French Broad River. This grant was issued by North Carolina June 11, 1788. The land is located in what is now Cocke County, Tennessee. The first church established in what is now Cocke County, Tennessee was the Big Pigeon Baptist Church. Among the charter members is found Mourning Denton. Abraham seems to have disappeared from East Tennessee by the time Tennessee became a state. It is said that he appears in White County, Tennessee about 1809 and in Perry county in 1821. In her book, Edythe Whitely lists the children of Abraham and Mourning Denton. The list seems to have been prepared from letters and other papers collected from John S. Denton. One letter cited in her book was from Holland Denton, grandson of Abraham and Mourning."

Abraham apparently fought with the North Carolina line in the Revolutionary War after he moved to the Yadkin river region.

Abraham's movements: 1766 in NC; 1774 in Rowan CO, NC; 1783 in Burke CO, NC then to Washington CO, TN (Sinking Creek); 1809 to 1821 in White CO, TN and later to Hickman and Perry COs, TN.

He married Elizabeth who died.

They had the following children:

John DENTON
Elizabeth "Bettie" DENTON

He also married Mourning HOGG in 1766. Mourning HOGG was born in 1750. She died in Monroe Co., TN.

They had the following children:

Rev. Isaac DENTON
Sarah "Sally" DENTON
Nancy M. DENTON
Samuel DENTON
Abraham DENTON IV
Jeremiah "Big Jerry" DENTON
Margaret "Peggy" DENTON
Elijah DENTON
Agnes DENTON
Martha DENTON

Hi Jim. I would like to add to your message on the movements of Abraham DENTON III. It indicates that perhaps he was in Smith Co TN on 1 Jan 1801 since he signed a petition while living there until White Co., TN was formed. Thanks to Rich EDWARDS who sent me copies of the petitions (1-1-1801) signed by the settlers of SMITH County TENNESSEE living on OBED River in opposition of a new county to be formed. Looking at the first signed petition Jacob SHIPMON signed the petition and so did Moses SHIPMAN, Abraham SHIPMAN and George SAILING husband of Sarah Jane KUYKENDAL SHIPMAN. These SHIPMANs were living in the same vicinity and are considered to be of the same family. No DENTONs on this petition.

Another copy of the same petition with slight differences in some of the wording is signed by the residents of Smith County. No SHIPMANs nor DENTONs signed on this petition.

Another copy of the same petition dtd 1-1-1801 was signed by 104 of Smith County TN residents including in order the following:

#5 Abrem DENTEN
#10 Samuel DENTEN
#11 John DANTON
#12 Jeremiah DANTON
#14 Elijah DANTON
#15 Abraham DENTON SR
#16 Samuel DENTON SR
#17 Benjamin DENTON (Married to a Jane SHIPMAN)*

Jim I also have reasons to believe that the Samuel DENTON SR between Abraham Denton SR and Benjamin DENTON above is the father of Benjamin DENTON that is also later found on the 1812 White Co TN Tax List. Both Sam and Ben are on the 1820 Perry Co TN Census. So evidently the thoughts that Samuel DENTON died in 1811 in SC is either incorrect or else there is another Samuel DENTON who is the brother of Abraham DENTON. It was stated by Ben F DENTON a grandson of Benjamin DENTON who died in Marshall CO MS in a letter that his Grandfather Ben was a cousin of Samuel DENTON the son of Abraham DENTON that Died in Obion Co., TN. All three were on the 1820 Perry Co TN Census.

It has been written that Samuel DENTON was born in 1734 in Orange CO, NY. Died in 1811 in Pendleton District, SC. Samuel was a Revolutionary War Soldier in the NC

Continental Line and received bounty land in White CO, TN. Until proper dates are learned, it is uncertain which children belong to which mother.

By 1769 both Abraham III and Samuel had joined a wagon train from the Shenandoah Valley to Lord Granville's land sale in North Carolina. This wagon train was made up of the then current younger generation of the Plumleys, Weavers, Moores, Hoggs, Dentons, etc. These, the growing-up children of the original immigrants to the Virginia frontier were marrying and developing families of their own and hungered for land of their own. They could not afford the local land and family holdings were not large enough to divide among all of the children. When Lord Granville began to advertise his land for sale, it was a new frontier to these young families. Tax lists and early censuses show that Samuel settled in what is now Granville CO while Abraham III settled in Caswell CO. Each chose to settle near where their wives' relatives bought land – the Moores around Samuel and the Hoggs around Abraham III's family.

And it appears both Abraham and Samuel traveled on into Smith Co TN in 1801 with other families including a Jacob SHIPMAN that was married to Samuel's daughter Nancy Denton.

They had the following children:

Comments (Abraham Denton, III b. 0__ 1726 Orange Co., NY d. 0__ 1828 Obion Co., TN, intestate): In my research, I have found that the person(S) who perpetrated the mistake that Abraham Denton 111 died in Obion county were indeed mistaken. He was very elderly when he appears in 1820 census of Perry county and on the petition to form Perry county. He moved there after selling his farm in white County in 1817. I have read the records that Edith Whitley used and they omit Perry County and make the claim of Obion. This needs to be changed . Researchers have scoured Obion for some trace to no avail. It was formed later than Perry, as well.

3) Abraham DENTON, Sr. had purchased land from Richard VOLentine of Hempstead, L.I., on March 3, 1700. The Orange Co, NY records show, " Abraham DENTON, Senr., of Precinct of Haverstraw to son Abraham DENTON, land . Delivered in presence of Jonas DENTON and John DENTON, January 10, 1729-30 .

4) From JAMES DENTON'S WILL : " In the name of God, Amen, I James DENTON, of Herricks, in the town of Hempstead, in Queens County, being very ill of body. I leave to my wife, Jane, all of my movable estate and household goods, ` and cattle and living creatures ', and use of my dwelling house, and one half of my barn and one half of all lands and meadows during her widowhood and after her death the whole is to go to my son James DENTON. If he dies before he is of the age of twenty-one, then all my brothers, Abraham and Jonas DENTON. I make my wife and my son James and my brother-in-law, William, executors". Dated the 7th day of the 3rd month, 1713. Witnesses : Ezekiel SMITH, Joseph WOOD. proved at the Jamaica before Issac HICKS, Judge, February 3, 1723.

18 Feb 2007; <http://www.dentongenealogy.org/capt.htm>

1700-1774

Capt. Abraham II DENTON was born in 1700 in Hemstead, NY. Baptized on 12 Aug 1774. Died in 1774 in Shenandoah CO, VA. His will was presented August 12, 1774. He died and is buried at Tom's Brook Plantation in Shenandoah CO, VA (photo of present Tom's Brook below).

Abraham was a Captain in the French and Indian War in the Provincial Army of 1766.

Abraham, according to sources in Orange CO, NY, had some problems with local law and soon after left the county for a new home in the Shenandoah County of Virginia. This was in 1729 or 1730. Thus started the move westward, for his sons each moved in different directions into the frontier.

From The Tennessee Valley Historical Review: "Abraham Denton, Junior, became involved with the law in New York in about 1729-30. He, along with some close relatives, left that state and headed for Virginia, crossing the eastern part of Pennsylvania and the northwestern part of Maryland. In the Valley of Virginia, then Orange County (later Augusta County) and the upper Virginia Valley, (Frederick, later Dunmore, and still later Shenandoah County) we find Abraham and his family. Also about the same time, Jonas Denton and others had reached the Virginia country. Samuel, Robert, James and John Denton begin to appear in the same general locality. The deeds in Frederick County clearly prove that the Dentons were there as early as 1755 and became prominent citizens."

Abraham left a deed dated August 12, 1774 which was signed by Mary Denton Little. Dorothy Clock (Clark) Elizabeth Smith and Mary Pareson (Pearson) made their marks.

He married Mary O'DELL in 1725 in Orange CO, NY. Mary O'DELL was born in 1702 in Woodstock, VA. Abraham's will was written August 12, 1774 and probated September 27, 1774 in Shenandoah CO, VA. Died in 1779 in Shenandoah, VA. Will book A, page 200, Woodstock Shenandoah CO, VA pgs. 228-229. Administration and inventory of estate and apportionment. Heirs: Elizabeth Smith, Hannah Smith and Daridea Clock (Clark). These were probably Mary's sisters who took care of her in her old age as her children had already moved on by the time her husband died.

They had the following children:

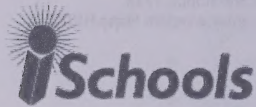

Joseph DENTON
Isaac DENTON Sr.
Samuel DENTON
James DENTON
Martha "Mary" DENTON
Abraham DENTON III

Letter dated, 9 Jul 1996, from Ardis Dashiell, S. 22414 Arnold Road, Fairfield, WA 99012;

"As you will noted I have added a question mark to the surname for Judith (Pitman). I have advice from several sources that Pitman was probably her name but have no "proof" so must add the question...Recently received a letter from another descendant of Gideon Hogg who was quite thrilled to see the Pitman name as her husband, a descendant of Gideon and Judith carries a middle name of Pitman and no one knew where it had come from. Just another clue but it all helps."

Note references to "Hogg Swamp". Maybe corroborating data for Judith's ancestry...DAH

3 Oct. 1768: John Ward of Halifax Co. to Robert Ward of same, 145 Virginia, 133a. part of 20 Apr. 1745 David Ward patent jng. Beaverdam [Swamp], Middleton, Bryants Branch. John Ward, Elizabeth Ward. Wit: David (x) Ward, Nathan Pitman, Isom Pitman.

"In the Bladen C., N.C. records of deeds (pre-Robeson Co.), the first Pitman to take up land appears to have been Thomas Pitman in 1768. He is listed as being from Halifax Co., N.C. Shortly thereafter, Isham Pitman also bought land and is listed as being from Halifax C. It seems that the lands that these men relinquished in Halifax C. upon moving to Bladen Co. were the lands originally held by Thomas Pitman (III) before his death and before Halifax Co. was created from Edgecombe Co. Isham was a witness to Thomas' purchase Lott was a witness to Isham's purchase. We know that Thomas and Lott were sons of Thomas from his will and it seems that several others were taking up land at or about the same time, in the same vicinity (present south Robeson Co., near Fairmont, N.C.). On Oct. 23, 1782, Nathan, Isham, & Newitt all bought practically adjoining properties which, on the surface, would indicate some relationship. On Nov. 11 & 12, 1779, Lott, Joel, Newitt, and Hardy all took up practically adjoining lands on Hogg Swamp which, again, would indicate some type of relationship. From local records, we know that Isham Pitman was born in 1728 and died in 1825 and I am assuming that the others were in the same neighborhood of age considering when they died ... Nathan, 1804, Newitt, 1787, Lott, 1790. From this scantiest of information, the conclusion has been drawn that these persons were brothers and all descended from the Edgecombe Co. family. If you are able to find absolute lineage, I, along with many others, will be most happy." James Guthrie, Lumberton, N.C., 1984

LWT:

In the name of God Amen, I Nathan Pitman of the state of North Carolina and the county of Robeson being weak of body but of perfect sound mind and memory do make and ordain this my last will and testament in the manner and form following, viz:

First I give, bequeath and devise to my son Sampson Pitman one hundred and ninety nine acres of land whereon he now lives.

Second I give, bequeath and devise to my sons Levi and Noel Pitman four hundred acres of land whereon I now live and also two acres including the grist mill and saw mill.

Third it is my will and desire that all my personal estate be equally divided between all my sons and daughters hereafter named (to wit) Nathan Pitman, Newitt Pitman, James Pitman, Robert Pitman, Jesse Pitman, Samuel Pitman, Temperance Pitman, and Elizabeth Pitman and I do appoint my sons Levi Pitman and Noel Pitman executors to this my last will and testament, in witness whereof I set my hand and seal this 17 April 1799.

Signed, sealed, published and disclosed Nathan (X) Pitman in the presence of J. Barnes and Samuel Thompson.

James Calvin PITMAN Sr., Rt 1 Box 227, Tylertown MS 39667, a descendant of Nathan PITMAN was the author of the book DESCENDANTS OF CAPTAIN THOMAS PITMAN, and the host of the Nationwide PITMAN REUNION held annually in Tylertown, Mississippi. J.C. died in April of 2000.

Media Alert

September 16, 2014

Johnson Receives Executive Leadership Award of Excellence

Congratulations Brandy! The MCAN staff and board are extremely proud of your hard work and dedication to college access in Michigan.

MCAN Founder Receives National Award

Lansing, MI - September 16, 2014 - Michigan College Access Network (MCAN) Executive Director and Founder Brandy Johnson was honored with the Executive Leadership Award of Excellence by the National College Access Network (NCAN) at their national conference yesterday in Phoenix. Johnson is one of only three award recipients nationally, being recognized for her contributions and leadership in sparking the college access movement in Michigan.

"I'm incredibly humbled to be receiving this recognition-from both the national organization and my colleagues and peers in Michigan," said Brandy Johnson. "As a first-generation college student myself, I'm inspired every day to keep working toward our goal of having 60 percent of Michigan residents with high-quality degrees or credentials by the year 2025."

In less than a decade, Johnson has cemented MCAN's foundation by aligning the critical players and institutions and partnering with organizations ranging from philanthropy to government to business. Under her leadership, MCAN has raised over $3.5 million in federal and state funds to invest in Michigan's college access movement. Johnson and her team have accomplished big things over the past several years, including establishing almost 50 local college access networks, providing direct training to hundreds of K-12 counselors, hosting a 450-person annual conference, and growing programs like College Application Week, Decision Day and FAFSA completion that touch tens of thousands of Michigan students each year.

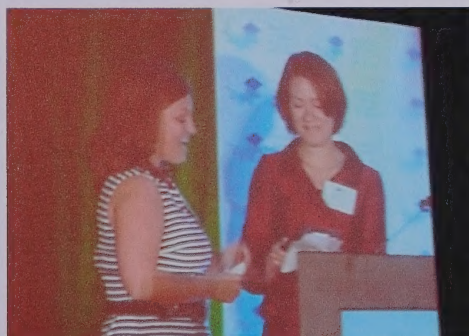

Johnson's work is making an impression nationally-earlier this summer, she was invited to join "The White House Opportunity Agenda," a task force led by First Lady Michelle Obama that focused on the vital role of school counselors in impacting students' college and career readiness. Johnson also spoke at the White House's higher education summit in July.

In addition to being recognized with this award, Johnson is also a featured speaker at NCAN's conference this week. Johnson's session, called "Mobilizing Cross-Sector Leaders for College Access & Success," highlights different tactics to rally community leaders to be champions in the college access movement. In Michigan, MCAN has successfully mobilized the governor, legislature, state superintendent and other relevant players to support college access statewide.

###

About Michigan College Access Network

As the leader in the state's college access movement, MCAN's mission is to increase Michigan's college readiness, participation and completion rates, particularly among low-income students, first-generation college going students, and students of color. Michigan has recently experienced a modest increase in our college attainment rate -- from 36.8% of 25-to-64-year-olds possessing at least an associate's degree, to 37.4%. However, Michigan's rate still lags behind the national average of 39.4 percent. It is MCAN's goal to increase Michigan's postsecondary educational attainment rate to 60 percent by the year 2025. Lois AmsMeek family

I do not know who Louise is. Alvin was he son of Moses Harvey Meek born 25 Jul 1839 and died 27 Sep 1929. Moses Harvey was a great grand uncle of my husband's and a brother to Howard Turner Meek (great grandfather of my husband's). Howard died quite early and Moses Harvey raised, Howard's two sons and his sister raised Howard's daughter. I have not been able to find out exactly what Howard and his wife died of but Moses Harvey Meek went over into Arkansas or Missouri and got the children and took them to Dickson county. Howard's son, Joseph, married Ron's grandmother and they named two of their three sons after this Meek side. Harvey was named after Moses Harvey and Cletus was named after Harvey's son - who is also buried in this Meek Cemetery.

The Meeks that are buried in this cemetery are those directly related to Moses Harvey except one stranger who adopted their Church of Christ faith and wanted to buried in their cemetery.

Moses Harvey Meek was the son of Moses Christopher Meek and Clemency Laws. Moses Christopher was a Primitive Baptist minister and preached in the Turnbull Primitive Baptist Church there in Dickson Co., TN. His son Howard married Mary Jane Cochran Turnbull who was a widow and had two sons. I have never been able to connect the Turnbull Church with Mary Jane.

I have quite a bit of info on this Meek family if you are interested. Lois thank you for taking the time to connect these memorials. I love it when family's can work together to connect loved ones so all can enjoy. you asked about pictures. All the pic of the family on my lineage we lost when grandma and grandpa's house burnt. I am sorry I can not help you with that. I am so honored to meet you even if it is through a web site that pays tribute to those that most of us have only heard stories about but have never met.

Sharon,

My pleasure. I will never forget where their stone is. Parts of the cemetery are very muddy and mushy. I had my map out and my laptop looking up locations to spot hers exactly. I found the row, and thought well it cant be too far down here, I will just wade through it..Before I knew it I was sinking.. lol I got it though...To me that is what grave finding is all about..They died to get there. I can walk through mud for them! :)

Sharron, I went back to the cemetery and ask again about this person, again they said, couldn't find him, I told the lady that he was there and to please check maybe in another file. Sure enough she found him and told me he was in Section # 15 St Theresa, #396.He would be on the end by the street.I checked the whole Section, Sorry to say he does not have a headstone. But he was found.

She told me he died at East Colorado St on Feb. 7, 1949.I see that you have Feb 3. So just wanted to tell you all the info..

Thomas Dooley born abt 1789 Virginia; died 1862 Habersham Co., Georgia

Bennett Dooley born abt 1793/95; died aft 1870 Georgia

John Dooley born abt 1794; died after 1870 Georgia

James Dooley born 1797 Georgia; d 1881 Forsyth Co., Georgia

William Dooley born abt 1813 Georgia; d 1852 Georgia

William Dula born 1756 VA; died 16 Jan 1835 Wilkes Co., North Carolina

DNA tests also prove that this William Dooley could NOT be related to Jacob Dooley b 1755; or a William Stephen Dooley b 1754, said to be sons of Henry Dooley and his wife Martha Anderson. We are also researching this family. I am still unsure of this link, but it would appear that we are desc from this line, either directly or indirectly. We have a Ralph Boswell Johnson, as late as 1870s in TX. Further back, however we have a John Boswell Johnson (1770-1830) who married Jane Chapman, father of Hubbard. We are sure of the line up until we hit Hubbard, then things get a bit tenuous.

Happy to trade info if we can assist each other.....

Andrew Martin Johnson & Alice Coddington

Looking for information on Andrew Martin Johnson, born in Norway (Jan 1861), immigrated to US (c. 1882 per census record).

Married Alice Coddington 4 Jan 1892 in New Haven, CT.

Father of Marian (1892), Ethel, Beatrice and (according to 1900 & 1910 census records) four other children who were not alive at the time of the census.

I have found no trace of Andrew after the 1900 census, although I believe that he was with Alice until at least 1904-1905 before they separated. Alice is listed as M1 (married once) in the 1910 census, but Andrew is not with her.

Marian is my G-Grandmother. She married Joseph Searles and later Roy T. Abel. I have info on Alice, Marian, Joseph, and Roy to share if interested.

Thanks in advance!

Do you have another John listed in your database? I am looking for the ancestors of John Johnson b. 1819-20 in Kentucky. County unknown but suspect Cumberland Co. His family may have come from Va or N.C. He married Almena Elliott. Have tons of info on their descendants and her family but can't seem to make any progress on John's family. Any info would be appreciated.
